HEPATIC CLEANSE

The liver purifies and distributes the nutrients and other substances that we put into our body. Hepatic Cleanse is a unique, scientifically developed formula, designed to support structure and function of the liver. The herbs and nutrients found in this formula have been carefully combined to provide a synergistic benefit to the liver and its function, and have been used for centuries for traditional solutions. Several of these herbs, including milk thistle, contain phytochemicals and bioflavonoid compounds that have been identified as “active components” due to their positive effect in protecting and supporting liver tissue. In addition, bioflavonoids positively support cellular membranes, which are vital to liver function. Hepatic Cleanse also furnishes antioxidants, which provide protection against free radicals in bodily tissues.
